Sculptor Jonathan Pearlman will exhibit his work at the Remsenburg Academy from May 24 to June 9, 2013. Photographer Andrea Parker will also be showing photos from the Early Girl Farm in East Moriches, NY.

The opening reception for the exhibition will take place on Friday, May 24 from 4 to 8 p.m. at the Remsenburg Academy, 130 South Country Road, Remsenburg, NY 11960.

The gallery is open from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. on weekends and holidays. It is closed during the week.

Pearlman has a long history in the arts. He has produced numerous documentary films, created animations of political cartoons for broadcast television, written screenplays and is the author of the novel "Two to Tango" (Simon & Schuster). His sculptures are an extension of his eclectic and whimsical view of the world. He transforms everyday objects into a new, imaginative form.

Pearlman's work has been exhibited on the East End and in New York City. Pearlman's art has been the subject of several solo shows. These include the Water Mill Museum (2012 and 2011) and the Quogue Library Gallery (2012). Pearlman won "Best in Show" in 2011 at the East End Arts Gallery exhibition "Folk Art."

His work has also been exhibited at Guild Hall Museum in East Hampton, NY and at AES Gallery in Long Island City, NY. Pearlman was the sole invited judge for the East End Art Gallery's "Found Objects" juried group exhibition in 2012.

Pearlman's art is included in several private collections.
