

Thank You for a Successful 2014

December 31, 2014

by Pat Rogers

Hamptons Art Hub had a great 2014. We expanded our writing team and increased the number of stories published each week. Rewards came swiftly with record numbers of viewers visiting the site every month. Record numbers of returning viewers helped secure Hamptons Art Hub's position as the best place to discover where to find art in the Hamptons and on the East End of Long Island. Coverage in New York City was also expanded, as was our art fair coverage during Armory Week and Miami Art Week.

We couldn't have achieved another great year of expansion without you! Thank you for reading Hamptons Art Hub. We appreciate your stopping by to check out our original stories written by an award-winning team of writers.

It's been our privilege to create a quality publication with stories and reviews that compel and enlighten. Art can't be experienced without knowing where to look for it. Our weekly columns and stories pointing out art events that shouldn't be missed are viewed by interested readers all year long.

Financial support and partnerships were strong in 2014 and point to a bright future for Hamptons Art Hub. Together, our advertisers, partners and individual patrons ensure the visual arts have a strong voice in the Hamptons, New York City and South Florida.

In appreciation, we'd like to publicly thank those who helped our success in 2014. Thank you!! We couldn't have done it without you.
