

ART SEEN: “Dan Christensen|Retrospective” Opening at Berry Campbell

September 22, 2015

by Pat Rogers

There were so many familiar faces at the opening reception of the Dan Christensen retrospective on September 17, 2015 that it could have been an exhibition opening in The Hamptons. The only giveaway was the sight of 24th Street parting Chelsea galleries lining both sides of the street, easily seen as part of the crowd spilling from the ground floor gallery.

The turnout of current and former East End residents to Berry Campbell gallery is no wonder: Dan Christensen (1942 - 2007) lived and made abstract art in East Hampton for the last part of his life. A painter whose focus was on the interaction of color, technique and the enjoyment of making art, his family continues to live in The Hamptons. The opening drew friends, family, artists, fans of Christensen's paintings and plenty of others who were intrigued by the art, no matter where they were based.

Artists spied at the opening were artists Nick Tarr, Susan Vecsey, Mike Solomon, Eric Dever, Don Christensen (Dan's brother), Elaine Grove (Dan's widow), Nathan Slate Joseph, Kim Uchiyama and others.

The retrospective itself presents paintings from various points in Dan Christensen's 40-year career including his spray paintings. A review of the show will publish next week. To see some of the abstract paintings in the show, click here.
