

Watermill Center's Scaler Lecture Series Programming Announced

July 20, 2016

by Hamptons Art Hub Staff

Watermill Center unveils its Scaler Lecture Series line-up, an annual series featuring distinguished scholars, artists and thinkers invited by Robert Wilson to speak on topics ranging across the arts and sciences. This year's lecturers include Kinan Azmeh (August 2), BG Muhn (August 4), Carl Schoonover (August 9), Wesley Enoch (August 10), Dr. Cornel West (August 16), and Mary Ellen Carroll (August 18). Aligning with Watermill Center's mission to encourage creative experimentation, these innovators join the growing list of notable speakers, including Nadya Tolokonnikova, Fern Mallis, Philip Glass and Tom Hennes from prior years.

Lectures are presented midweek and space is limited. Spots in the free series tend to "sell out" quickly. Click here to reserve.

Musician and composer Kinan Azmeh speaks on "Art in Times of Crisis"; BG Muhn discusses "Contemporary North Korean Art: Complexity within Simplicity"; Carl Schoonover addresses "How to Look Inside the Brain"; Wesley Enoch presents "Aboriginal Traditions in Contemporary Australian Culture"; Dr. Cornell West speaks on "Democracy Matters" through the lens of love, equality and justice; and conceptual artist Mary Ellen Carroll discusses her work of "performative architecture."

The Scaler Lecture Series is curated by Robert Wilson and administered & co-curated Kate Eberstadt, Founder of The Hutto Project and a former International Summer Program participant.
