

East End Weekend: December 16 - 18, 2016

December 13, 2016

by Genevieve Kotz

This weekend, take advantage of any free time by checking out the multitude of art exhibitions on view in the Hamptons and around the East End. The Parrish Art Museum in Water Mill has the “Artists Choose Artists” exhibition on display, reviewed by Hamptons Art Hub here. Make sure to check out the three shows at Guild Hall in East Hampton before they leave on December 31, 2016, including a retrospective on artist couple Connie Fox and William King. And as the Earth circles around the Sun for another year, check out the circle-themed exhibition at Alex Ferrone Gallery in Cutchogue.

Still looking for more things to do? We have a few of our favorite picks for a weekend on the East End below.

Plus you can click here to discover more galleries on the North and South Forks or check the Hamptons Art Hub Exhibition Finder to see what’s on view.

Artists Choose Artists at Parrish

Michael Combs Book Signing in Greenport

Sculptor and installation artist Michael Combs will sign copies of his new book, “Michael Combs,” at Little Creek Oyster Farm & Market restaurant on Sunday, December 18, 2016 from 11:30 a.m to 1:30 p.m.

The artist’s new book features examples of his work and explores the history of the loss of environmental innocence, inspired by Long Island baymen. His work draws on his family’s history of living off the land, as Michael learned about hunting and waterfowl carving from two fishermen, his father and grandfather.

The event is free, but visitors can RSVP and pre-order copies of the book here.

The Little Creek Oyster Farm & Market is located at 37 Front Street, Greenport, NY 11944.
