Artists of Shelter Island — ARTSI — is a great way to view art where it starts. Founded eight years ago by working Shelter Island artists of various disciplines and styles, ARTSI has become an annual summer highlight for visiting art lovers who come to the East End of Long Island and enjoy discovering the charming Shelter Island beaches, scenery, sites and dining just a ferry-ride away from the mainland, while meeting accomplished art professionals in their studios and viewing their work.

There is no charge for admission, no ticketing, just a “walk-in” welcome at the open studios of 18 Shelter Island resident members of ARTSI—from painters to photographers, printmakers, digital artists and sculptors. Artwork is available for sale, and many of the artists accept commissions.

Participating artists include: Janet Culbertson, Kathryn A. Cunningham, Roz Dimon, Jerry Glassberg, Melora Griffis, Katherine Hammond, Megan Hergueter, Karen Klaer, Liss Larsen, Diana Malcolmson, Kia Pedersen, Linda Puls, Joe Reilly, Susan Schrott, June Shatken, Jana Sheinker, Peter Waldner and Mike Zisser.

Studios will be open from 12 to 5 p.m. for two days only—August 19 and 20 (Saturday and Sunday).

For more information, a map and a preview of artwork, we warmly invite visitors to visit
